

Manhattan Leaser Killed By Cavein

HOWARD HUBLEY IS BURIED ALIVE IN MINE WORKINGS

BODY DISCOVERED BY RESCUERS WAS OPERATING LEASE ON THE DEXTER

Howard Hubley, a Manhattan leaser, was killed yesterday in the northern camp when he was literally buried alive by a cavein of rock and dirt. Hubley and Charles Gilbert were working on a lease on the Dexter ground that is known as the old Wall lease. Hubley was at work in a drift that was being sent out from the top of a raise. The raise started in the tunnel at a point several hundred feet from the entrance and was within about 15 feet of the surface when the drift was started. The top of the drift caved in while Hubley was engaged in mining, and tons of rock and dirt filled the drift and also fell to the bottom of the raise, blocking up the entrance to the workings. The alarm was immediately sounded by miners and rescuers rushed to the property. Fully 50 tons of dirt were handled from the tunnel when it was discovered that the miner was not beneath the pile of debris. A search was then made in the drift and the body of Hubley was found beneath a pile of rocks. One huge rock was resting upon his head and another upon his chest. Death evidently had been instantaneous, for rescuers were working within 15 feet of the body for an hour before it was found and no sound was heard during that time. The accident occurred about 11 o'clock and it was not until about two hours later that the remains were discovered. The deceased was about 45 or 50 years of age and had resided in Manhattan for some time. He was single and is understood to be survived by a mother who resides in some eastern state.

IRON CENSORSHIP PREVENTS NEWS MEXICAN WAR AND INDICATES GOVERNMENT IS LOSING

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Mexico City is virtually cut off from the outside world by an iron censorship. With only one official despatch from Ambassador Wilson, saying that hostilities had been resumed, the Taft officials waited in suspense today. Despatches from Vera Cruz confirmed the statement that hostilities were resumed. Madero telegraphed to close friends in Washington that he "expected definite results soon."
President Taft's reply to Madero's appeal to withhold American intervention was made public by Secretary Knox. After stating that the Mexican president had apparently been misinformed as to the policy of the United States toward Mexico which had been uniform for two years or as to naval and military measures taken, which measures were for natural protection, the report says: "In view of the special friendship and relations between the two countries, I cannot too strongly impress on your excellency the early establishment of peace and order which this government has long hoped to see."
President Taft concludes by expressing the conviction that "present paramount duty is for prompt relief of the situation."
Reports from the city of Mexico indicate losses on the Diaz side have not been great and that their lines have been extended in one direction as far as the palace of government, which was taken, and in the other direction to the German school. Guernavaca is reported taken by the Zapatistas.
LAREDO, Feb. 17.—The line of the Mexican Central railroad, north of Monterey, is in the hands of the rebels. Fourteen bridges have been burned. The consul at Juarez reports Chihuahua quiet. The United States military and naval force is moving into position to do instant work.
The Vermont and Nebraska are due at Vera Cruz today. This will make six American men of war in Mexican ports, with a total landing force of 6000.

The rebels brought another big siege gun into action, but failed to silence the rebel fire. The rebels tried to pick off the federal artillerymen. The United States embassy neighborhood was untouched. Many Americans have departed and the danger zone is practically deserted except by soldiers. The shower of shrapnel directed at the national palace caused little damage.

Nye Will Be Bonded For Roads

KELLIHER HAS BILL AUTHORIZING ISSUANCE OF BONDS TO EXTENT OF $60,000

Assemblyman Al Kelliher of Tonopah arrived this morning from Carson, having come down from the capital to attend to business matters and also to discuss probable legislation with his constituents. He will depart in the morning for Carson to resume his legislative duties. In the near future Kelliher will introduce a bill authorizing the board of county commissioners of Nye to issue bonds to the extent of $60,000, the money to be used in the construction of an automobile highway across this county. Elko county has already introduced a bill authorizing the issuance of bonds to the extent of $600,000 for the same purpose. It is Kelliher's intention to embrace in his bill a clause providing for the employment of a competent road engineer at a salary not to exceed $200 monthly. The engineer must be a graduate of some college and be learned in the work of constructing thoroughfares. He will have sole charge of the work. The work will be carried out by an auto truck, which will provide power for a concrete mixer. Culverts will be constructed easily with the aid of the concrete mixer and the work expedited in this manner. Kelliher has discussed the proposition to bond the county for the road construction project with many of the leading business men of this city, and also with the taxpayers and in every instance his plan has received unanimous support. The legislator is an ardent advocate of good roads and is spending the greater part of his time investigating and securing information regarding road construction. He has been in communication with Senators Newlands and Bourne, the latter being regarded as one of the most eminent authorities on road building in the United States.

GIRTON DENIES ASSAULT

SILVER BOW MINING MAN DENIES HE FIRED NO SHOTS AT W. G. COOK

C. M. Gorton, the Silver Bow mining man, against whom a complaint charging assault with intent to kill was lodged Saturday by W. G. Cook, also of Silver Bow, was arrested Saturday afternoon by Sheriff Malley and brought to this city that same evening. He was released on bonds of $500 pending the preliminary examination. Gorton, in explaining the trouble between himself and Cook, declared that he was attacked by Cook, the latter carrying a revolver in his hand. During the fight Gorton wrested the revolver from his antagonist's and dealt Cook several blows over the head. Gorton emphatically denied he had fired several shots at Cook and declared he had merely acted in self defense. The preliminary examination of Gorton will probably be held late this afternoon or tomorrow morning. No specific date has yet been set for the examination of Gorton owing to the presence of District Attorney Sanders in the district court where he is engaged in securing a jury for cases set for this week.

BUNCO ARTISTS WORK GAME ON EDWARD CLIFFORD, SR., OF TONOPAH WHO DROPS JUICY BANK ROLL

INVESTIGATION FAVORED BY NYE COUNTY SOLONS

DELEGATION IN LOWER HOUSE WOULD INVESTIGATE STATE BANK AFFAIRS

In commenting editorially on the defeat of the resolution calling for an investigation into the affairs of the State Bank and Trust company by the legislature, the Bonanza Friday attributed the death of the measure to the assembly judiciary committee. This was wrong for the measure was killed in the senate. The Bonanza today received a dispatch from the Nye county assembly delegation calling attention to the mistake and stating that every member of the delegation was strongly in favor of an investigation and would certainly work to that end. From the tone of the telegram it is evident that a measure will shortly be introduced in the lower house calling for the appointment of a committee to conduct such an investigation, notwithstanding the efforts being made to prevent such a committee being named and empowered to act by the legislature.

ADVISES STATE WESTLEY STEWART IS RESTING EASY

CONSIDERABLE IMPROVEMENT IN CONDITION IS REPORTED BY DISPATCHES

Advices received this morning from San Francisco state that Westley Stewart, postmaster of this city, is resting easy in the Lane hospital. A consultation of four physicians was held Saturday afternoon at which time it was believed Stewart would be forced to undergo an operation without delay. He experienced four hemorrhages Saturday and that afternoon was in a critical condition. However, he rallied Sunday and this morning was somewhat better. Walenstainer was sent to the prison from Mineral county in December 1911 and had been at the road camp since Jan. 15, 1912. MONTENEGRINS LOSE 3000

LONDON, Feb. 17.—The Montenegrins lost 3000 in a futile attack February 13 against the Turks on the heights of Tarabosch and Birdita, dominating the fortress of Scutari, according to a dispatch received today from Constantinople. The Turks captured six guns.

There is one born every minute. According to the San Francisco papers the latest one is from Nevada, and, in fact, is a well known Tonopah resident. Edward Clifford Sr., the Nye county pioneer, who made his fortune at Clifford and Ellendale, is the victim, and the newspaper accounts credit him with placing a bank roll upon a horse race, the betting being conducted with the aid of two sharpers who are now in jail at San Jose. The story is best told by the San Francisco Bulletin, which contains the following interesting account of the manner in which our most respectable citizens are fleeced from their hard-earned gold:

By the arrest of Harry Furey in San Jose and his brother, George Furey, alias George Williams, in this city this morning, rated two of the cleverest swindlers in America. Detectives Frank McConnell and George McLaughlin have in the tolls the pair who robbed Edward Clifford, the millionaire mining man of Nevada, of $14,000, and they are now seeking two other bunco men, who, when captured, will make, with the Fureys, a quartet that every police force in the United States would like to get possession of.

For 40 years Edward Clifford worked at his mines in Nevada, and in that time never ventured out of the state. Recently he took his two daughters to place them in a convent in Los Angeles, and one of the first men he met on the streets of the southern city was Joseph Furey, alias George Williams, whose picture graces every rogues' gallery in the country. Clifford could not recall ever having met Furey before, and he probably never did. But the skilled thief addressed him by his name, spoke glibly of his mining properties in Nevada and soon had Clifford convinced that he knew more about the operations of the aged millionaire than Clifford did himself.

The pair started down Spring street together. Not a block from where the meeting took place they came upon a man standing at the corner, who was "peeling" $20 bills from a roll that would fill a carpet sack. "That," said Joe Furey, to the mining man, "is F. Miles, the greatest plunger probably in the world."

Clifford was eager for the introduction, and "Mr. Miles," was really Harry Furey, Joseph Furey's brother, was introduced.

From Los Angeles Clifford accompanied the Furey brothers to Pasadena. There he ventured his first wager on the races. The bookmakers had evidently recuperated their bank rolls and were ready to do business again. Clifford's share of the winnings that day was $1500. That is, he was told he had won that much and was given that much in real money. The next day Clifford dropped $3000. Then the trio came to San Jose. Last Thursday Mr. "Miles" told Clifford and Joe Furey that he was ready for the greatest coup of his life, but didn't have quite enough money to put it over. It would take $11,000 with what he had to make the cleanup complete.

Clifford came to San Francisco with Joe Furey, telegraphed for $11,000, returned to San Jose and put it in the hands of the plunger. Meanwhile two other buncomen, whose names are unknown to the police, were taken in on the play. Clifford was advised that they, too, had put a sum equal to his draft in the pool. Clifford waited for the returns of the races, likewise he waited for the return of the Fureys. But he never saw them again.

The Furey brothers are a local product purely, but since taking their first plunge into crime in this city in the early 90's they have been a thorn in the side of every detective chief in the United States.
